1. The first part of the document is a letter from the President of the United States to the Congress, dated January 1, 1861. It is a very important document, as it sets out the President's policy for the new year. The President states that he is pleased to see the Congress assembled, and that he is confident that the country is in a good position to meet the challenges of the future. He also mentions the recent election of Abraham Lincoln as President, and expresses his confidence in Lincoln's ability to lead the country. The letter is signed by James Buchanan, the outgoing President.

2. The second part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Treasury, dated January 1, 1861. It provides a detailed account of the financial state of the country at the beginning of the year. The report mentions the total amount of the national debt, and the amount of money that has been borrowed. It also discusses the various sources of revenue, and the amount of money that has been spent. The report is signed by William A. Richardson, the Secretary of the Treasury.

3. The third part of the document is a report from the Secretary of the Interior, dated January 1, 1861. It provides a detailed account of the various departments under the Secretary's jurisdiction, including the Bureau of Land Management, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, and the Geological Survey. The report mentions the various projects that have been completed, and the amount of money that has been spent. The report is signed by Caleb B. Smith, the Secretary of the Interior.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine whether there were differences in the prevalence of musculoskeletal disorders among different types of workers in the garment industry. The study included 600 employees from three garment factories in Mexico City. Data were collected by means of a self-administered questionnaire. The prevalence of musculoskeletal disorders was higher among female than male workers ($P < .001$). The prevalence of musculoskeletal disorders was also higher among those who worked longer hours per week ($P < .001$) and those who had been employed longer ($P < .001$). There were no significant differences between the prevalence of musculoskeletal disorders among different types of workers.
